MAN ON THE MOON

Briton won £10,000 on bet

Some 40 years ago a man by the name of David Threlfall bet 10 British pounds that a human being would set foot on the moon's surface before the year 1970. Renowned betting firm, William Hill, offered Threlfall 1000-to-1 odds against this actually occurring prior to the cut-off date. With astronaut Neil Armstrong's famous announcement, "That's one small step for man, and one giant leap for mankind," David Threlfall became £10,000 wealthier. Sadly for Mr. Threlfall, he later died by smashing the sports car he'd bought with his prize money. Armstrong's lunar landing - it turns out - was only the beginning of many loony bets to come.

American Neil Armstrong has become the first man to walk on the Moon. The astronaut stepped onto the Moon's surface, in the Sea of Tranquility, at 0256 GMT, nearly 20 minutes after first opening the hatch on the Eagle landing craft. Armstrong had earlier reported the lunar module's safe landing at 2017 GMT with the words: Houston, Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed. As he put his left foot down first Armstrong declared: That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind. He described the surface as being like powdered charcoal and the landing craft left a crater about a foot deep.

We came in peace'

The historic moments were captured on television cameras installed on the Eagle and turned on by Armstrong. Armstrong spent his first few minutes on the Moon taking photographs and soil samples in case the mission had to be aborted suddenly. He was joined by colleague Edwin Buzz Aldrin at 0315 GMT and the two collected data and performed various exercises - including jumping across the landscape - before planting the Stars and Stripes flag at 0341 GMT. They also unveiled a plaque bearing President Nixon's signature and an inscription reading: Here men from the planet Earth first set foot upon the Moon July 1969 AD. We came in peace for all mankind. After filming their experience with a portable television camera the astronauts received a message from the US President. President Nixon, in the White House, spoke of the pride of the American people and said: This certainly has to be the most historic telephone call ever made. Many other nations - including the UK - sent messages of congratulation. Moscow Radio announced the news solemnly in its 1030 GMT broadcast.
